Aruba's holiday season starts with Fiesta Kibrahacha

Islander's know that the holiday season has truly arrived when Centro Kibrahacha for 60+ hosts its annual fundraising fiesta-a day of fun, food, and flea markets filled with music and socializing, all to support Aruba's largest activity center for retirees.

Aruban families flock to Centro Kibrahacha for a great day with all the family with tons of activities and opportunities to win prizes, play games, dance and enjoy the company of their community.

The center is supported by Aruba's Rotary Club, and many of the members, which include parliamentarians and captains of industry, were doing their part and the lowliest tasks to see the day was a success.

Berlusconi resignation call ratchets up Italy tensions

PERUGIA (AFP) - Italy's parliament speaker threatened Sunday to pull his supporters out of the government if Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi did not resign, piling pressure on the Italian leader.

"He should... take the decision to hand in his resignation and declare there is a de facto crisis," Gianfranco Fini said in a scathing attack on his former ally at a conference of his new political movement.

Fini, who rebelled against Berlusconi earlier this year, said the resignation should bring about a new chapter in Italian politics in which "the nature of the coalition and the composition of the government are re-discussed."

He appeared to hint that a new government could be formed with Berlusconi in charge but based on "a new legislative pact" with his own forces, experts said.

"We can't go on like this," Fini said in front of some 10,000 supporters of his Future and Freedom movement at a conference in the city of Perugia in central Italy.

There are four pro-Fini ministers currently in the government.

Fini, a former foreign minister, has long been seen as a powerful political player. But he has often been sidelined by Berlusconi since the flamboyant media tycoon burst onto Italy's political scene in the early 1990s.

Fini announced in July that he and his supporters would break away from the ruling People of Freedom party although he made it clear that he would continue to support the government in parliament based on certain conditions.

Around 40 lawmakers from the lower and upper houses of parliament have gone over to Fini's side since July. Their defection, if finalised, means that Berlusconi would no longer have a governing majority in parliament.

Berlusconi supporters criticised Fini on Sunday, accusing him of using his post of parliament speaker to try to engineer a change of government and challenging him to have the courage to vote against Berlusconi in parliament.

Berlusconi himself was cited by Italian news agencies as saying that he had no intention of resigning.

'Megamind' gets mega buck in debut weekend

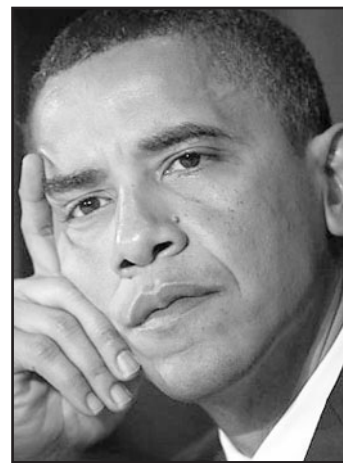

LOS ANGELES (AFP) - Will Ferrell's animated supervillain comedy "Megamind" took in some mega cash over the weekend, with a 47.7-million-dollar debut at the North American box office, industry estimates showed.

DreamWorks Animation's 3D movie, which also features the voices of Brad Pitt, Tina Fey and Jonah Hill, pulled ahead of strong openings for the other two top contenders, "Due Date" with a 33.5 million dollars take and "For Colored Girls" with 20.1 million.

The anti-superhero tale has blue-skinned, green-eyed supervillain Megamind trying to find purpose in his life after finally conquering his arch-rival, Metro Man.

Republicans flex muscle, Obama promises 'corrections'

WASHINGTON (AFP) - Republicans flexed their new-found political muscle on Sunday by promising a string of investigations into Barack Obama's administration, as the president vowed to make some "corrections."

By seizing the House of Representatives in Tuesday's mid-term elections, Republicans gained the chairmanship of powerful House committees that can seek to embarrass the president by calling top aides to testify in public.

"I'm going to go after a lot of things and I'm going to do a lot of investigating," Representative Darrell Issa, who is set to take control of the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, told Fox News Sunday.

Former presidents Bill Clinton and George W. Bush faced epic showdowns with the House committees after crushing mid-term defeats in 1994 and 2006 respectively.

For starters, Issa said he would probe allegations the White House offered to give Democratic Representative Joe Sestak an administration post if he stayed out of a Senate primary race.

Sestak won the primary against senator Arlen Specter, the White House's preferred candidate, and ended up narrowly losing to Republican nominee Pat Toomey.

Other targets are expected to be Obama's sweeping health care reforms, the Justice Department's failure to probe alleged voter intimidation by the New Black Panther Party, and the handling of the BP oil spill.

The White House has yet to say how it plans to respond, but Obama, on a 10-day trip through Asia, offered his most candid appraisal yet of the crushing poll losses.

"People are frustrated," the president told a meeting with Indian students in Mumbai. "It requires me to make some mid-course corrections and adjustments."

As Obama played defense, leading Republicans took to the Sunday morning talk shows to attack the president over big spending, plans to increase taxes for the rich, and health care reforms they portray as a government takeover.

During the weekends those persons can be contacted via the Police Central Station (100). The above mentioned persons will check if the site where the event will take place is appropriate.

The general permit will be give under the following conditions:

1. The general permit is valid only for the months of November and December 2010

2. Gaita, Aguinaldo and Dande groups can give their presentations until 10:00 p.m.

3. Under NO circumstance can the traffic be obstructed or endangered.

4. No waste or any other garbage must stay behind on the public road after the presentation

5. It is not allowed to play music in the vicinity of churches during mass hours, hospital, elderly homes or other institutions that give medical care, nor in the vicinity of gas stations.

6. All police orders relating to public order must be obeyed immediately. A police officer is authorized to stop the event the moment that public order requires it or if any of the abovementioned conditions are violated.

Important information regarding Pfizer's Lipitor prescription drug

191.00 bottles of Lipitor proceeding from the U.S.A., Canada and Trinidad were taken off the market. The decision was taken based on the chemical used for preservation of the wooden pallets used for transporting and storing the Lipitor on. This chemical changes into tribromoanisoole (TBA) and gives Lipitor a strange smell.

Lipitor, sold by Pfizer, is a member of the drug class known as statins, used for lowering blood cholesterol. It also stabilizes plaque and prevents strokes through anti-inflammatory and other mechanisms.

If you are a patient who uses Lipitor and you notice a strange smell, contact your drugstore, even though the stock available on Aruba comes in boxes and is not the same of those taken off the market in the U.S.A, Canada and Trinidad.

Pfizer informs all Lipitor users that the chemical tribromoanisoole (TBA) which causes the smell in Lipitor, has minimum consequences on a patient's health.

ORANJESTAD -- The Aruba Department of Medicine Inspection wishes to inform the public, in reference to a recent article published on October 30th about the Pfizer Company's Lipitor drug that

Successful seminar about the mind

ORANJESTAD -- Recently, Aruba Hypnosis Center held a seminar titled: "Amazing Secrets of Your Minds." Facilitator was Eddy Oduber, a certified hypnotherapist

Contrary to a hypnotist who uses hypnosis for entertainment, hypnotherapy is often applied in order to modify a subject's behaviour, emotional content, and attitudes, as well as a wide range of conditions including dysfunctional habits, anxiety, stress-related illness, pain management, and personal development. In order to perform hypnotherapy a subject must understand how the conscious and sub conscious mind work.

The subconscious mind functions as the storage room of everything that is currently not in a subject's conscious mind; it stores all the previous life experiences, belief system, memories, skills, all situations the subject has been through, and all images he has ever seen. Understanding one's subconscious helps you make big changes in your life.

During the seminar, which is held three times a year, this valuable information is shared with the participants for them to better understand their mind and also the invisible powers that guide us in life.

The seminar teaches methods which enable attendees to better understand their minds.

The seminar not only covers interesting topics such as fear, doubts, uncertainty, procrastination (the act of putting off actions or tasks to a later time) but it also explains our emotions, wishes, thoughts and habits that affect us in our life.

Participants at the seminar is a selected group that was identified through a unique process. They received a certain amount of material to study and were certified at the end of the seminar.

They express to be very satisfied with the seminar and the wish for a repeat. According to one participant: "The seminar was MASTER."

During the forum “Bo Opinion” at Centro di Bario Brazil Cabinet Mike Eman meets with inhabitants of Brazil and its vicinity

They express their satisfaction with the transparency of the new government

The “Bo Opinion” Town Hall style meetings continued, this time at Centro di Bario Brazil where the inhabitants of Brazil and its vicinity had the opportunity to come forward with questions, and share their concerns and ideas with Prime Minister Mike Eman and Minister of Communication, Finance, Utilities and Energy, Mike de Meza.

What came forward during the Town Hall meetings is that most of the inhabitants have the same concerns.

One concern that stood out is the bad condition of the public roads, dirt roads as well as asphalt roads. According the community it seems that the asphalt used on the roads is not of a good quality; after 2 to 3 years that the roads were fixed, they already have holes. They also do not understand why the former government fixed a lot of different roads in the community to a certain extend and not completely. This being the case at Paradera where there are different roads that are half fixed, the same at Tamarijn, Alto Vista, Sabana Liber, Brazil- and Mabon Kavel, Zeewijk, and the main road San Nicolas - Oranjestad.

Prime Minister Eman explained the importance of these forums because this way they can listen to the community's concerns and the problems they want the government to put more attention to.

Cabinet Mike Eman started with the Town Hall meetings as soon as they sat down as the new government. This American model enables the mandataries to get into closer contact with the community. The PM elaborated on his vision, while listening to suggestions, praise, concerns and critics of all those present. It is the type of event in which the government wants to show its transparency to the community of Aruba.

Scientists turn skin into blood

WASHINGTON (AFP) - Stem cell researchers have found a way to turn a person's skin into blood, a process that could be used to treat cancer and other ailments, according to a Canadian study published Sunday.

The method uses cells from a patch of a person's skin and transforms it into blood that is a genetic match, without using human embryonic stem cells, said the study in the journal Nature.

By avoiding the controversial and more complicated processes involved with using human embryonic stem cells to create blood, this approach simplifies the process, researchers said.

"What we believe we can do in the future is generate blood in a much more efficient manner," said study author Mick Bhatia of the McMaster's Stem Cell and Cancer Research Institute in the Michael G. DeGroote School of Medicine.

With the ability to create blood for transfusion from a person's own skin, the advance means someday patients needing blood for surgery or to treat anemia could bypass the blood bank and derive the necessary supply from themselves.

The breakthrough could also see future uses such as allowing patients undergoing chemotherapy to endure a longer regime of treatment without the breaks currently needed to rejuvenate the body.

Researchers have been able to perform the skin-to-blood transformation in the past, but while using human pluripotent stem cells, widely known as embryonic stem cells.

Stem cells that are derived from human embryos hold significant promise for medical breakthroughs but also carry risks, such as the potential to create tumors.

But researchers say their new method can create enough blood for a transfusion from a four by three centimeter (1.6 by 1.2 inch) patch of adult human skin, and can avoid those potential hurdles.

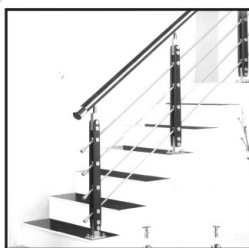

"So we don't need to take skin cells and put it into a pluripotent stem cell. That is inefficient in terms of time," Bhatia told AFP.

"There are also concerns that they might form a tumor, and the fact that we bypass that makes it more feasible for transplants."

Those needing bone marrow transplants could be particularly aided by the breakthrough, according to John Kelton, dean of health sciences for McMaster University.

Clinical trials could start as soon as 2012, the study said.

Google Blocks Facebook From Importing Contacts

For years, Facebook users have been able to search and invite Google contacts to join their social network through a single mouse-click. But ever wonder why the reverse was never true: why isn't there a button allowing Google users to import Facebook friends into their contacts list?

Back in September, Google CEO Eric Schmidt wondered about this during an appearance at a Google Zeitgeist conference. And in response, last night Google made a subtle change to the Terms of Service in its Google Contacts API, as first reported by TechCrunch.

The change means Web sites will not be able to automate the import of a user's Google contacts into their own database, unless they reciprocate the exchange.

"We have decided to change our approach slightly to reflect the fact that users often aren't aware that once they have imported their contacts into sites like Facebook they are effectively trapped," Google said in a statement.

This doesn't mean you can't import Gmail contacts onto Facebook, managed by Facebook Connect, you'll just have to add them automatically or export Gmail contacts to your hard drive first.

Yahoo and Hotmail have reciprocity deals with Facebook where contact information gets exchanged both ways, and are still available through Facebook Connect.

Synology announces environmentally friendly, multi-feature NAS server

Software developer Synology announced Tuesday the release of its 4-bay, full-featured NAS server, the DiskStation DS411j. The server—intended for small businesses and home offices—works with Synology's DiskStation Manager 3.0 operating system to provide secure and ample storage space, stream multimedia entertainment, and manage data. Available now in stores, the DiskStation DS411j enclosure retails for $333.

With a maximum capacity of 8TB, the 4-bay unit will satisfy small businesses and audio/visual professionals who have even the most demanding media storage needs. Users will be able to share and backup files across a variety of platforms, including Windows, Linux, and Mac. The DiskStation DS411j is also Time Machine ready, meaning you just need to set the DS411j as your backup source and you're good to go.

synology utilizes its Hybrid RAID technology to ensure data protection through a number of security measures. HTTPS, a built-in firewall, encrypted data transmission, and IP auto-block supports all make for safe, protected file sharing. If you need to augment your storage capacity at any time, the DS411j is also equipped with 2USB ports as well as 128MP DDRII RAM.

Many falls, and resulting ER visits, can be prevented

Falls are a leading cause of injury, but some simple precautions can help prevent them, experts say.

"It's important to look around your everyday environment and minimize the risk . . . not only for yourself, but for others as well. There is a reason that unintentional falls are common injuries with our patients. They can happen at any time, any place and happen to anyone," Dr. Sandra Schneider, president of the American College of Emergency Physicians said in an ACEP news release.

Falls are the leading cause (33 percent) of accidental home injury deaths and account for more than 40 percent of nonfatal injuries, the Home Safety Council has reported. The two highest risk age groups are children under 5 years and adults older than 70.

"A fall can be a sentinel event in the life of an older person, potentially marking the beginning of a serious decline in function or the symptom of a new or worsening medical condition," Schneider said. "Identifying the cause of the fall and making appropriate interventions to improve function are as critical as treating injuries if future falls are to be prevented and quality of life and longevity are to be improved."

Here are some ACEP tips for preventing falls in the home:

- * Get rid of clutter in your home and make sure that stairs and walkways are kept clear of objects.

- * Keep tops and bottoms of stairs well lit, and leave nightlights on in the bedroom, hall and bathroom.

- * Repair or replace any loose stairway carpeting or boards.

- * Add handgrip bars in bathrooms and shower areas. This is especially important for the elderly or those with disabilities. The bottoms of tubs and showers should have a non-slip surface.

- * In homes with elderly people, remove throw rugs and tack down larger rugs.

- * In homes with young children, use locking gates near stairs and install window guards with quick release mechanisms that are easily opened in case of a fire.

Exercise may guard girls against dementia in senior years

If you want to help your young daughter avoid dementia much later on in life, a new study suggests it might be a good idea to send her outside to play.

Canadian researchers believe they've found a link between exercise in adolescence and fewer cases of senility in a woman's senior years.

The study doesn't definitively prove that exercise lowers the risk of dementia.

Still, the findings suggest that "early life physical activity is important to late-life health and in particular in preventing late-life cognitive impairment. The sooner you start being physically active, the better it is," said study author Laura E. Middleton.

TIP: Don't Mix Alcohol and Drugs

It's never a good idea to drink alcohol while you're taking a medication, but there are certain over-the-counter drugs that can be particularly dangerous when taken with alcohol.

The American Academy of Family Physicians says these OTC medications should never be taken with alcohol:

- * Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs), such as ibuprofen, aspirin or naproxen.
- * Acetaminophen (the active ingredient in Tylenol).
- * Antihistamines that tend to cause drowsiness.
- * Medications to manage cough and congestion that contain dextromethorphan.
- * Herbs, notably supplements that contain valerian root, kava kava or St. John's wort.

Take time to get acquainted with

ARUBA

There is a particularly lovely beach on Aruba with a gorgeous vista right near the airport, known always as Surfside; for some time now the building adjacent to it has gone through a string of owners seeking an appropriate identity for this special place, and it looks like it has finally found it with the opening of the Nikki Beach Club Aruba.

Our investigative team from THE MORNING NEWS went down to have a look at this latest venture, and we found just the kind of authentically tranquil, Caribbean ambiance vacationers seek when visiting Aruba. New owner Hans and his GM Lub have completely renovated and redesigned the venue to fully showcase this charming location while providing a very reasonably priced menu and bar.

November is the month to get acquainted with Nikki Beach as they are offering an introductory dinner special of only $15 for a three-course meal or a different Entrée de Jour each day of the week for only $10. This is available from 5:00 to 9:30 p.m., so you can finish up an afternoon spent on the beach, catch a meal after a dive with the adjacent SCUBA shop, or savor your supper along with one of the most spectacular locations to watch our amazing Aruban sunsets.

Jan and Lub have dubbed Sunday's at Nikki Beach "Rehab Day," when they provide a particularly pleasant ambiance with popular local and international DJ's from noon on and $3 Mimosas all day long. During the traditional Happy Hour time slot, they feature live music with top local groups specializing in the soft sound of the islands.

Some extremely interesting items on the menu captured our interest along with very moderate prices; aside from the November special you can expect an a la carte tab that will add to your enjoyment. Their chef offers an extensive fusion selection that reveals expertise in several notable cuisines; a nice variety that will please everyone's mood. For lunch and snacking you find a varied choice of classic salads, favorite local treats, pastas and gourmet sandwiches. Kitchen is open from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

One last interesting tidbit: Lub explained they offer a customized Departure Day Package that allows vacationer to stow their luggage, enjoy all their amenities, choose a meal, drinks or both and they will personally guarantee getting you to the airport in plenty of time for the flight. Changing rooms and showers let you swim and beach it until departure time and you can linger without rushing, as the airport is only 2 minutes away; no worries about fighting traffic or delays. "Why should you end your stay on a hurried and harried note?" asks Lub. "You can join us for the day and keep that relaxed island ambiance up to the last minute; it doesn't have to end at check out." The package requires reservations, which can be made by calling 582-0153 or contact them through their website: www.nickybeacharuba.com.

Aruba Tourism Authority honors loyal visitors of Aruba

Recently at the Renaissance Ocean Suites vacationers were presented with honorary titles created by the Ministry of Tourism as a token of appreciation to guest visiting Aruba for ten and 20 consecutive years. Special friends of Aruba, enjoying ten or more annual vacations here, are given the Distinguished Guest certificate and those with twenty consecutive years are awarded the Ambassador of Goodwill title.

The recent honorings were effected by Aruba Tourism Authority associate Castro Perez.

Mrs. Phyllis Mazeiko, from Massachusetts, and Mr. John and Mrs. Norma Ferrigno from New York were honored as Ambassadors of Goodwill of Aruba. They have been vacationing on Aruba for 25 and 24 years respectively.

Also honored were Mrs. Eleanos Montalbano from New York, and Mr. Robert and Mrs. Elayne Page as Distinguished Visitors of Aruba, for their 16 and 11 years of consecutive visit to our island. According to the honorees the main reasons for coming here every year are our freindly people, excellent restaurants, variety of tourist activities, the casinos and the Arikok National Park.

ATA rep Castro Perez handed the honorees beautiful certificates thanking them for their love and loyalty for our island.

Island artist Elvis Tromp is 'Playing with Colors' at The Frame Shop

Elvis with Cydrick and Mario of The Frame Shop

The Frame Shop is an attractive spot located just behind the large supermarkets on the outskirts of Oranjestad. Owner Angela and her nephew Cydrick and co-worker Mario are dedicated not only to perfectly completing and complementing a favorite painting or photograph, but promoting local artists. The shop is a delightful gallery with a beautiful collection of paintings and sculpture on display; the trio is proud to host a solo show until Friday, November 5 of Aruban artist extraordinaire, Elvis Tromp, aptly named "Playing with Colors."

Elvis is one of Aruba's most driven and prolific artists. "I feel as if time is running out, and I have so much inside me I wish to share," he commented about his prodigious output, "I have to keep making paintings, I simply can't slow down." This newest exposition of 25 works features 22 new paintings and 3 classics. His experimentation with color has produced a diversity of styles within a single exposition; most vibrantly reflect the intense hues of tropical island life, even in the monochromatic installations.

Elvis conveys his profound love for his island and its character in this collection; each is homage to Aruba with only one or two abstract exceptions. He feels the quaint cunucu houses are the quintessential embodiment of the island and it is an oft-repeated theme. However his treatments of these landscapes are so varied one might wonder if they are by the same artist. This is one of Elvis's strongest assets, his ability to explore new styles with great creativity. His bold use of palette knife for the majority of his works demonstrates enormous technical expertise, producing some extremely subtle textures which are gradually revealed when studying the paintings more closely.

Among the numerous island landscapes a few deeply emotional renderings of local fauna stand out. All of the works are striking and infused with Elvis' intense energy and affection for his subject.

The works of Elvis Tromp and other artists are on display and for sale at The Frame Shop six days a week-Mondays through Fridays from 9:00 a.m. until noon and from 1:00 until 5:00 p.m.; Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.. For more information and directions to the shop call 582-1322.

Unemployment payouts push California deeper into debt

Unemployed women Susanna Ruiz (L) and Karen Marquardt (R) search for jobs in an employment office in the southern Californian town of El Centro, a town of 50,000 people where 30.4 percent of the work-age population are without employment, on October 28, 2010.

According to the latest data 13 US cities and towns -- including nine in California -- have a jobless rate of over 15 percent. The two "recession capitals," as American media have dubbed them, are El Centro -- 365 km southeast of Los Angeles -- and the neighbouring town of Yuma in Arizona, where 27.2 percent of people are out of work.

Both are in traditional farming regions whose economy has always depended on Mexican seasonal workers who come to work legally in the US due to special status enjoyed by residents of the border area.

In El Centro, most unemployed people over 45 can expect to be without a job for up to two years; for those below 30 the wait is generally less than six months, but usually involves a string of temporary jobs in shops or fields.

Obama savors 10 billion dollar India trade bonanza

MUMBAI, India (AFP) -- President Barack Obama Saturday unveiled 10 billion dollars in trade deals with India, seeking a US jobs dividend from a fast-rising economy he hailed as one of humanity's most stunning achievements.

Weaving a fulsome parable of India's emergence and potential in a speech to US and Indian business executives, Obama also announced a reform of US export regimes and rejected caricatures of India as a nation of "call centers."

His speech was clearly aimed not only at India, but at voters in the United States who punished Obama's Democratic Party in mid-term elections on Tuesday, in a cry of anguish over the job-starved recovery.

Several blue-chip US companies concluded deals in the hours before Obama flew into India's commercial hub, Mumbai, to launch a nine-day trip to Asia, as the White House seeks an economic pay-off from his foreign policy.

Tuna black market worth billions of dollars

WASHINGTON (AFP) - The craze for sushi has fueled a black market in tuna worth billions of dollars, as governments collaborate with the industry despite fears for the species' survival, an investigation found.

A seven-month probe by the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists found that fishermen have willfully violated official quotas in order to supply the lucrative tuna market, which is dominated by Japan.

The investigation covered 10 nations but found particular violations in France, where it said the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries has joined forces with the tuna industry to doctor catch numbers.

"Everyone cheated," said Roger Del Ponte, one of the six French fishing captains facing criminal charges.

"It's like driving down the road. If I know there are no police, I'm going to speed," he said in the report.

The journalists said the black market in Eastern Atlantic bluefin tuna was worth at least four billion dollars between 1998 and 2007. The calculation came from comparing the estimated total catch of tuna with official quotas and then using rates at Tokyo's Tsukiji fish market.

Bluefin tuna being cut for a sushi dish

Global fears over tuna stocks emerged in 2007 when France declared it had caught nearly 10,000 tons, almost double its quota allowed under the International Commission for the Conservation of the Atlantic Tunas (ICCAT), a regulatory body.

"We found that the system failed at every point. It failed in that vessels were overfishing and that officials were turning a blind eye to that overfishing for years," said

Kate Willson, a reporter on the investigation.

Facing an outcry, ICCAT came up with a new system in 2008 to keep track of the trade. But the study said the database was ineffectual and the tuna industry was heading to areas with even less oversight such as North Africa.

Willson said the French ministry declined repeated requests for comment.

"There is no way to know if the situation is getting better. We're supposed to trust them that they are getting better," she said.

ICCAT figures found that spawning stock of Eastern Atlantic bluefin tuna has tumbled by nearly 75 percent in the past four decades, with more than half of the loss between 1997 and 2007.

Jean-Marc Fromentin, a marine biologist on ICCAT's scientific body, said that experts had recommended a cut in fishing quotas as long ago as the late 1990s.

"If the countries had listened, then there would have been no risk of collapse," he said in the report.

"But because they didn't pay attention, and they didn't control catch limits, then after a few years the situation became really critical and we began to speak about the risk of collapse," he said.

ICCAT meets in Paris from November 17 to 27, ahead of which European Union fisheries commissioner Maria Damanaki has called for a substantial reduction in the bloc's tuna catch quota of 13,500 tons.

Microsoft CEO sells $1.3B in shares in company

Microsoft chief executive Steve Ballmer, pictured in October 2010, has sold 49.3 million shares in the company worth some 1.33 billion dollars, according to a filing with the US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). He stressed that the move should not be seen as a lack of confidence in the Redmond, Washington-based software giant and he remained "fully committed" to the company.

YESTERDAY'S Crossword Answer

Taj Mahal Restaurant in Oranjestad is an authentic culinary excursion

When Bharat Shah, originally from India, but now a successful businessman in California, put on a spectacular wedding in Aruba for his daughter Lisa and her groom Kalpesh, they welcomed hundreds of friends and relatives from around the world, including the "old country."

When all the wedding guests had finally arrived in Aruba, Bharat hosted an official welcome party along the shore in Palm Beach, and he chose to have it catered by Taj Mahal restaurant, he was that impressed by their cuisine.

If you like your Indian food authentic, or are looking for a new and unique dining experience, an evening at Taj Mahal will deliver a memorable meal. A seemingly endless menu offers scores of choices for fish, chicken, lamb and vegetarian dishes that are "the real deal;" discover that Indian food goes way beyond curry!

A taste-testing crew from THE MORNING NEWS chose a selection of their singular starters and two main courses with saffron rice, served family style, which provided a fine example of the versatility of their chef.

Taj Mahal's Tai Choice is a great way to start the meal and be initiated into the joys of Indian cuisine, offering a diverse selection of traditional favorites. It contains hearty portions of Pakoras, crispy vegetarian fritters, Aloo Tikki, potato cutlets, Chicken Tikka, tender chicken breast pieces seasoned just right, and shaped and seasoned ground lamb, charmingly dubbed "Sheik Kebabs." All is served on a bed of sliced onions and brought to your table on a sizzling platter, and you will want to dish those sautéed onions on to one of their tasty Indian breads called Naan, leaving behind not a single crumb. Main dishes are accompanied by a choice of rice, mixed vegetables rich with garlic, or Naan, plain, buttered, onion or garlic, and you will want to order an extra basket or two of this tasty delight, on which you can spoon your main course, as well. Poori is crispy fried naan, and most definitely worth the extra two dollars to sample with your meal.

Our group also added an appetizer of crunchy Samosas, the Indian form of a potato knish, served with either cilantro or sweet and sour sauce. A platter of their Jhinga, large, crispy-fried shrimp in a delicate batter is ample enough to serve as a main course, though featured on their appetizer menu.

As we mentioned, main courses are served family style, in beautiful little pots that sit upon a candle to keep them warm. Our group sampled the "Mutton Saagwala," also known as "Lamb Shag" which is cooked in a thick sauce of yogurt and spinach, and the "Fish Hara Masala," moist, tender chunks of fish in a rich sauce featuring cilantro as the main flavoring. This is offered in mild, medium and very spicy, we found the medium quite spicy enough for us; it left a tingle on the tongue.

The family style service allows everyone at the table to sample a bit of this and that, and we heartily recommend you do, to truly appreciate this authentic bit of India in Aruba. Open for lunch and dinner, Taj Mahal sports a cozy and intimate air-conditioned dining room and a small outdoor terrace for those that enjoy dining al fresco. They have an exotic dessert menu to match, but our group was too stuffed to partake; there was even enough left to box up and provide a lunch next day for the lucky first person to get to it!

Located behind the Royal Plaza Mall, across from Aruba's Numismatic Museum, Taj Mahal offers a dining experience that is truly out of the ordinary; they feature an excellent and tasty selection for vegetarians too. If you are a fan of Indian food, or have been toying with trying it, Taj Mahal is the place for a very affordable dining experience and the real deal! Call 588-4494 for reservations.

Gold Coast Aruba: This is the time to invest

Managers of Gold Coast Aruba, the island's newest and most innovative gated community, report that sales are picking up nicely as the global economy begins to recover and those with a bit of disposal income are looking to invest in a sure thing. Gold Coast Directing Manager Fito Croes has noticed a surprising percentage of owners are barely using the villas or town homes they purchase, but taking advantage of Gold Coast's rental services to turn their investment into ready income.

"The greater portion of home owners are using their 'home away from home' in Aruba to escape the winter months, or spend holidays with the family on the island," he remarked, "but I am gratified by how many are buying because they felt secure with real estate investment on Aruba. They really study the history and economy of the island and are impressed with the political stability and continually increasing value of prime locations. Gold Coast is in the heart of Malmok, considered Aruba's most exclusive community; in this area, the value of properties has only increased over time. It is minutes to the best beaches and all the action, and yet offers a quiet and secluded getaway; we are very pleased by the response to our concept."

Fito, with his sister Mayrin and brother Rudy run Cas Bon, which has been constructing homes and building developments for all budgets for nearly twenty years. "Gold Coast Aruba is the jewel in our crown," observes Fito. "We were very excited about this project; the scope and amenities. We talked to countless island visitors to find out what they would really want in a permanent residence on Aruba, and took from there."

Input from frequent vacationers who dreamed of their own home in Aruba will eventually be a community of 260 town homes, villas and condominiums with a stunning clubhouse complemented by two additional pools decks, one of which has been open for a year, the other will be ready for the holidays 2010. They expect the clubhouse to be ready for the community with a workout room and specta-homes. An elegant and chic standard package is available, or island designers will assist owners in finishing the décor to their specific tastes.

There are many aspects to purchasing property; not the least is the future value of the investment. To further enhance this, Gold Coast managers have inaugurated a number of in-house services and are now negotiating with Interval International to provide a huge international pool cular facilities by the end of 2011. It will also house a restaurant and mini-market.

Owners who purchased upon the groundbreaking only a few short years ago, are already enjoying a nearly 50% appreciation on their investment, particularly those taking advantage of the management association's rental service. There is always a great demand for Aruba and facilities such as those at Gold Coast, making it easy for some owners to earn their mortgage payments or others to see an immediate return on their investment.

The design of the structures is open, airy and spacious, fully deploying the island environment, with the finest quality construction and finishing available. Partnering with two of Aruba's top providers of kitchens and bathrooms enables developers to offer custom options for clients, so buyers can individualize their for investors to tap for renters either short or long term. Property exchange for a vacation in another destination will also be available. Gold Coast's own rental services have also proven highly successful in assisting owners in renting their villas; 24-hour security and maintenance services also tip the scales when it is time to make a decision. Aside from all this, housekeeping, babysitting and catering services are also available for community members as well as airport pick-up and drop-off and pre-shopping services so cupboards and refrigerators are stocked upon arrival, which can all be arranged through their home management department.

Visit their website: www.goldcoastaruba.com for more details and availability or call 586-2200 to arrange a personal tour.

Actress Jill Clayburgh dies at 66

NEW YORK – US actress Jill Clayburgh, who was twice nominated for Oscars for her portrayals of independent women, has died on Friday of leukemia, aged 66.

Her husband, Tony Award-winning playwright David Rabe, said she died after a 21-year battle with chronic lymphocytic leukemia. She was surrounded by her family when she died at her home in Lakeville, Conn., he said.

She dealt with the disease courageously, quietly and privately, Rabe said, and conducted herself with enormous grace "and made it into an opportunity for her children to grow and be human."

She is best remembered for her role in "An Unmarried Woman," the 1978 film about a wealthy New York woman who picks up the pieces of her life after her stockbroker husband leaves her for a younger woman.

She was nominated for Academy Awards for Best Actress for the film and also for the 1979 film "Starting Over," with Burt Reynolds and Candice Bergen.

Besides her husband, survivors include her daughter, actress Lily Rabe; a son, Michael Rabe; and a stepson, Jason Rabe. Her family will have a memorial in about six months, though plans have not been finalized.

Love is Forever - Brenda and Danny renew their vows on their 20th Anniversary

Brenda and Danny Nunez have been coming back to the Holiday Inn for the past 20 years since their honeymoon here November 1990.

This time at the Resort was special for them, as they chose to renew their vows of marriage with their two children, David Andrew and Maranda as their witnesses, surrounded by Danny's brother Rafael and his wife Liza, Danny's cousin Joseph and TC Chalusian, and their best friends, Americo and Sol Maria Flores.

Danny Fernandes and his staff made sure everything was perfect from the wedding type set up, Reverend Tomasito Gibbs and Photographer Diane Keijzer. The weather gave its blessing with a slight drizzle and a touch of a sunset. After the memorable ceremony, champagne toast and photos on the beach, everyone enjoyed a dinner together at Holiday Inn's Da Vinci Restaurant. Congratulations and see you next year!

Haile Gebrselassie announces retirement

NEW YORK (AFP) - Ethiopian legend Haile Gebrselassie announced his retirement on Sunday, after dropping out of the New York City Marathon with a knee injury.

The 37-year-old - a two-time Olympic champion at 10,000 metres - said that he would devote himself to other matters.

"I never think about to retire. But for the first time, this is the day," he said. "Let me stop and do other work after this."

Gebrselassie, nursing an inflamed right knee, pulled out of the race at the 16-mile mark.

The marathon world record-holder, who is involved in several business ventures in his homeland, had treatment on his knee before the race and pulled up with a wince of pain on the downhill of the Queensboro Bridge.

He had run 16 miles in 1hr

19min 40sec.

"I don't want to complain anymore after this, which means it's better to stop here," said Gebrselassie, the 1996 and 2000 Olympic 10,000m champion.

Gebrselassie has won the Berlin Marathon four times and triumphed at Dubai the past three years.

He set the world marathon record of 2hr 3min 59sec in 2008 at Berlin.

While he had voiced pleasure at a chance to compete in New York for the first time, he acknowledged via Twitter before the start of the race and in a pre-race television interview that he had some inflammation in his knee.

"I have some inflammation in my right knee, because of the long travel to NY city," he wrote on the micro-blogging site. "No big problem, just some fluids. Hopefully the knee holds!"

Marathon officials said Gebrselassie had an MRI on Saturday that found fluid and tendinitis in the knee.

Federer timing end of season run to perfection

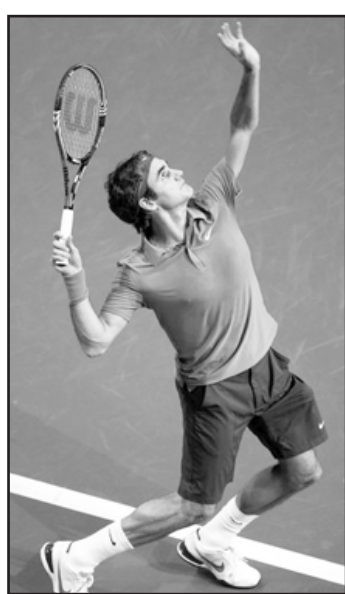

BASEL (AFP) - Roger Federer heads to Paris as top seed for the last event of the ATP season with his post-US Open master plan working with Swiss precision.

The world number two - who will top the field at the Paris Masters due to the absence of Rafael Nadal because of injury - won his fourth title at his home Swiss Indoors on Sunday with a 6-4, 3-6, 6-1 defeat of Novak Djokovic.

The victory proved to be a tonic after the Serb had a year ago interrupted a string of three previous Federer wins at the event where the 29-year-old local began his phenomenal tennis career as a ballboy.

"I've played really well all week long," said the Swiss, who had not dropped a set all week prior to the final.

"It was a fantastic week, I played well from start to finish. The final was the most dangerous of the week, especially playing Novak. But I was able to pull away in the third set."

Federer took a strategic rest after exiting the US Open in a semi-final to Djokovic, only returning a month later for the Shanghai Masters, where he lost the final to Andy Murray.

But Federer's long-range planning can rarely be faulted, and the 16-time grand slam winner is showing that working for success in the closing weeks is his key to the 2010 campaign.

With Basel now tucked away again after playing his fifth consecutive final here, Federer has added his home title to one in Stockholm from a fortnight ago.

He will play Paris with a bye in the first round and then pause prior to the November 21 start of the year-end, eight-man World Tour Finals in London.

"Of course I'm confident after this win, but I'm also a bit tired and beat-up. I've had a lot of matches, but I knew the schedule would be like this."

The whole of Federer's immediate family was in the stands, including his parents, sister, wife Mirka and the couple's 14-month-old twin daughters dressed in matching outfits.

"It is even more special to win again at home," said the winner.

Woods falls short in first tournament as number two

SHANGHAI (AFP) - US superstar Tiger Woods responded meekly to the loss of his world number one ranking, slipping to a lacklustre joint sixth place Sunday at the HSBC Champions event in Shanghai.

The tournament was Woods' first outing since Lee Westwood replaced him last week as the world's top player and eyes had been on whether Tiger -- who could have reclaimed number one with a win here -- would roar back.

But his well-chronicled troubles continued with an erratic performance that saw him start and end with a pair of respectable 68s but hurt himself in the middle rounds.

He shot a 68-72-73-68 at the par-72 Sheshan International Golf Club to finish seven under.

"Overall, I felt like I've been hitting it well and it's just a matter of being patient," Woods said.

Woods was plagued by errant tee shots and several lipped-out putts in an outing that saw him toss clubs in disgust and swear out loud in frustration despite the constant encouragement of thousands of adoring Chinese fans.

He was effectively out of contention going into the final round, as Italy's Francesco Molinari surged to victory with a 19-under performance.

"The middle rounds were obviously a little scratchy," Woods said of himself.

Woods' form has plummeted since revelations of his affairs with a string of women emerged a year ago, ruining his marriage to Elin Nordegren and leading to a five-month hiatus from golf.

He has not won a tournament since and in recent months employed the services of golfing instructor Sean Foley to overhaul his swing after splitting with his longtime coach Hank Haney in the wake of the sex scandals.

Woods has blamed his woes in Shanghai on the ongoing adjustment to changes in his swing wrought by Foley, who has coached a number of other top golfers.

"That's part of the building process. I can hit shots in a row, but I haven't strung it together for all 18 holes and I haven't done it for all 72. So I just need to be patient and keep working on it," he said Saturday.

Woods now has just two more chances to muster a win in 2010: the JBWere Masters in Melbourne -- which he won last year -- teeing off Thursday, and next month's Chevron World Challenge in California.

Jockeys fined after Breeders' brawl

LOUISVILLE (AFP) - Jockeys Calvin Borel and Javier Castellano were fined Sunday for events during and after Friday's Breeders' Cup Marathon, which saw the winner's circle briefly turned into a boxing ring.

Borel was fined 5,000 dollars, the maximum allowed, "for conduct against the best interest of horse racing" after his attack on Castellano in the winner's circle after the 500,000-dollar Marathon.

Borel, incensed by Castellano's move during the race that nearly caused another rider to be unseated and also impeded Borel's mount, had to be forcibly restrained and was escorted to the jockey's room still complaining and gesticulating.

Castellano was fined 2,500 dollars for his part in the post-race incident, and he was suspended six racing days for causing interference necessitating a disqualification in the race.

The trouble started when Castellano, aboard Prince Will I Am, tried to find space for his horse but in moving right cut off Martin Garcia's mount Romp, who pitched toward the track nearly unseating Garcia.

Borel's horse A.U. Miner was jostled in the turmoil.

Eldaafer won the race, while Prince Will I Am was disqualified after crossing the line second.

Gabriel's Hill crossed the line third and was awarded second place while third went to A.U. Miner.

According to the statement from the stewards on Sunday, both jockeys waived their rights to formal hearing before the Board of Stewards.

Matt Forte #22 of the Chicago Bears runs away from Akin Ayodele #50 of the Buffalo Bills at Rogers Centre yesterday in Toronto, Canada. Chicago won 22-19.

Haye insists he will fight the Klitschkos in 2011

BERLIN (AFP) - Britain's heavyweight champion David Haye said Sunday he will fight either one of the Klitschko brothers in 2011 in a title-unifying fight.

Haye was due to meet both Vitali, who holds the WBC heavyweight title, and Vladimir, who is the IBF and WBO holder, in 2009, but both bouts fell through.

WBA champion Haye, who fights Britain's Audley Harrison next Saturday in Manchester, England, now says he will fight one of the Klitschko brothers next year. "The fight will take place in 2011 and it doesn't bother me which brother I will face," Haye told German daily Bild.

Haye withdrew from the bout against Vitali last September because of problems with the fight contract and slammed the Ukrainian brothers for their pre-fight agreements.

"They are contracts of slavery," he told German daily Bild.

Despite defeat, fans turn out for Zenyatta

LOUISVILLE (AFP) - Fans of Zenyatta turned out to bid the mare farewell Sunday, their affection undimmed by her defeat Saturday in the five million-dollar Breeders' Cup Classic.

Trainer John Shirreffs took down the barricades that had lined Barn 41 at Churchill Downs all week and allowed media and fans a close-up view of the superstar mare, confirming she will retire from racing with an almost-perfect 19-1 record.

Fans without access to the fabled track lined a fence and watched as Zenyatta grazed and posed for photographs.

Shirreffs was still disappointed on Sunday, but proud of Zenyatta, who he said came out of her race "very well."

Asked if he had watched a replay of the race, in which

Zenyatta made a gutsy late run only to lose to Blame by a head, he said: "Well, maybe later."

"It was her last race," Shirreffs added. "It's all over. Why watch it again?"

Shirreffs said Zenyatta would return to California for about a month before heading to her new life.

Shirreffs said that as yet no breeding plans had been made for Zenyatta.

"That's the thing about horse racing. As a trainer you have to learn to let go," he said. "Heck, she's been a champion for three years and she's going to a great place."

Shirreffs was asked what he said to jockey Mike Smith after the Classic, in which Zenyatta fell some 20 lengths off the lead at the start.

An emotional Smith blamed himself in the immediate aftermath of the race.

"What could I say? I just patted him on the shoulder," Shirreffs said. "He was devastated. It's unfortunate that she drops so far back. There were two groups in that race - the lead group and another group about three lengths behind that group. It left her too much to do."
